HUNTING THE UNIVERSE . . .

Magazines are filled with stuff about life since John Kennedy died in Dallas.

Ten years since his assassination have changed the world and catapulted individuals like John Connally into history.

Liberalism in this country is out of popular support. Conservation vested in its first president in about two generations is haunted by election excesses.

Connally is the other man who stopped bullets that started this debacle of change. Probably the first modern Texas governor, Connally spoke of what was left of confidence in government and other institutions the other night in Dallas.

A lot is unrecognizable. A lot isn't working.

What genius wrought about 200 years ago has been inexorably altered by events beyond contemporary leadership, events which started during Kennedy's "Thousand Days."

Political assassination or attempt brought down Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King, George Wallace and the 35th President. It elevated Lyndon Johnson, Richard Nixon, Ted Kennedy and John Connally.

Presidential miscalculation, begun with Truman, put us in a dozen years of Vietnam. Inadequate social, education and political structure encouraged central city explosion and campus riot.

The church is caught looking across vacant sanctuaries to mass destruction in the streets.

Aspiration put us on the moon. Exasperation brought detente with China and Russia.

Like Johnson, Nixon is enmeshed by events.

Much of this started November 22, 1963, upon Kennedy's assassination. His youth, his ambition and this country's vigor after eight Eisenhower years overassured us this nation could do anything. Nobody emphasized it could come apart at its institutional seams.

114-114-114

I saw what the Kennedy assassination and its aftermath did to Dallas that day. The city recovered, but it has never quite been its same swash-buckling, oligarchal self.

I saw naught-Ashbury, where the kids, the Narco agents, the Hell's Angels (now opposing hard drugs), the left-over Beatniks, the tourists dramatized the failure of metro family life, schools and government in the "Flower children's" fritter away from reality.

I saw the launch site before Apollo 11 blasted away and touched down on the earth's moon.

I saw computers which would change industry and life, now catalogued by 120,000 transistorized marvels when once only a few thousand stood by the roomful.

I saw a lot of this coming. And so did you.

114-114-114

And a few talked and wrote and exchanged views. But our system only now sees the impact of what one book calls "Future Shock."

The kids want to "turn off" hard drugs. And the family unit with modification will survive. But the evidence is all but conclusive that centralization and size not only are suspect, however led by whomever, but are unfit for "public service."

What is fit enough, big enough, viable enough to take up inadequacies of a two-party system, rabid or facile religionists, bureaucratized schools, inflated industry?

Genius started this when it was small enough to see. But like the fat man who admits there are parts of him he has never seen, it requires more fragmented genius to function within the whole of institutionalized parts.

Computers well could categorize the lists of specialized talents for this country to "make a day."

One President is not enough. Events have done in three. It's not organized labor or commerce.

It can only be one thing: All of us identifying with change as a way to stability rather than change as a way of life.

This requires genius. And wisdom. We are being pressed into using the other 90 percent of our brains. Resourcefulness rather than cleverness will bring us together. This country produces leadership that titular nomination by exhausted institutions is incapable of finding.

The past 10 years put us on a talent hunt just about the size of the universe.

Civil Defense Outlined

Milam County residents are receiving a Community Shelter Plan advising what to do in case of a nuclear attack on the United States, according to County Judge O. B. Harden.

The plan has been printed in the form of a newspaper supplement and will be inserted in The Cameron Herald, The Rockdale Reporter, and The Thorndale Champion on November 29.

Subscribers or those persons buying a paper on that day will receive a copy of the Community Shelter Plan with their paper.

Judge Harden urges all county residents to study the plan and save it for future reference if an attack or nuclear accident should occur.

The plan, developed at the request of local officials, is the result of a study conducted by members of the county civil defense office in cooperation with representatives from the city civil defense organizations in Milam County.

Local officials were assisted in this study by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Division of Disaster Emergency Services of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Funds for this undertaking were provided by the Federal Government.

The primary danger to residents of Milam County resulting from a nuclear attack on this country would be from radioactive particles which could descend from the upper atmosphere and settle over the country after having been carried for hundreds of miles by high altitude wind currents.

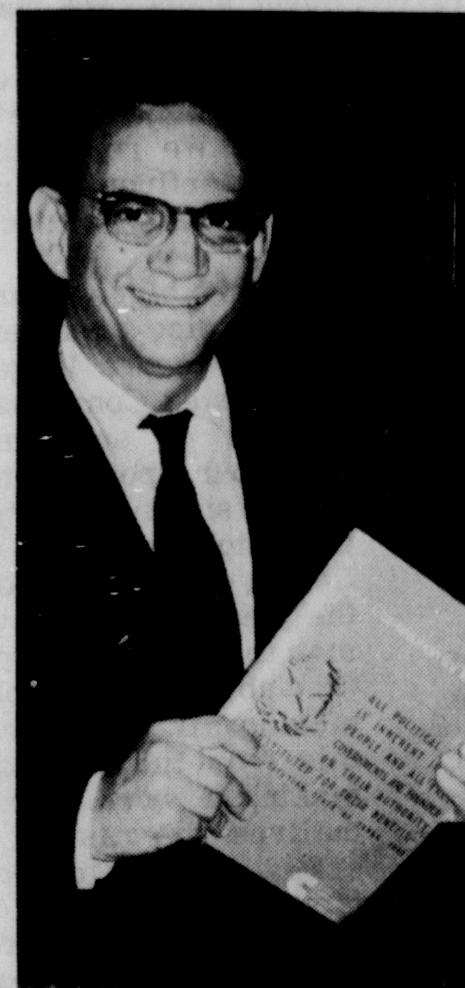

The radiation emitted by these particles could penetrate the average building and cause serious illness or death to the occupants. While a storm cellar with a foot or more of earth over the roof would in most cases provide adequate protection from this type of radiation, a normal home would offer little or no protection unless the residents knew how to increase the protection offered by that structure.

Because this type of radiation decays or weakens with time, it is possible for persons who are protected from the early, intense radiation to survive with little or no ill effects.

The goal of the recently completed Community Shelter Plan is to assure that everyone in Milam County would have this type of protection if an attack or a nuclear accident occurred.

The Community Shelter Plan contains maps showing the locations of public shelter facilities and the areas whose residents could be sheltered in those buildings. It also contains instructions and illustrations explaining how to improvise home shelters and what to do upon receiving an attack warning.

Judge Harden was joined by other county and city officials in urging all residents to study and keep their copy of the plan. If your family does not receive a copy during the initial newspaper distribution you may obtain a copy from the County Judge's Office, Cameron City Hall, Rockdale City Hall, or Thorndale City Hall.

GUEST SPEAKER - Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado, was guest speaker for a joint Lions Rotary meeting Wednesday at Cameron County Club. The joint meeting is an annual affair.

Council Hears Request For Rate Increase

Tops on the Cameron city council agenda Tuesday evening was the rate change requested by Texas Power and Light Co. and at presstime Tuesday it was a tossup as to whether the increase would be granted.

Request was submitted by Henry Siebman, local TP&L manager, who was expected to emphasize that this will be only the third general increase by TP&L during its 61-year history.

The increase is only the second the company has submitted in 22 years. The last occurred in 1972.

Other business on the agenda included a problem at Cameron Air Park where a crop dusting outfit is leasing the hangar. City Secretary Buddy Fuller and City Atty. Ed Magre have met with the men in regard to a quantity of empty poison containers which are littering the hangar and airpark area.

The men were invited to meet with the council in an effort to reach some agreement about the litter. The lease states that the council may cancel the lease whenever it wants to.

Another item on the agenda concerned funds for Cameron Day Care Center. Inquiry was to be made to see if revenue sharing funds could be used to help support the center. The city has no funds budgeted at this time for the center, but is seeking a way to help.

A request to burn debris and trash was submitted by Pete Miller. The trash is the result of tearing down old delapidated buildings in West Cameron, and the request is to burn the trash on the premises instead of having it hauled off.

Boy Scout Banquet Set

The Texas District's annual Boy Scout Appreciation Banquet has been set for Monday, December 3, at Rockdale's New Salem Home Demonstration Club facility in Fair Park at 7 p.m., according to Jim Carter, district chairman.

The keynote address will be presented by Baylor University's vice president of development, Tom Parrish.

A native of Moscow, Texas, Parrish holds degrees from Stephen F. Austin University, the University of Texas School of Law and Southwest-ern Theological Seminary.

The banquet is held annually to honor adult volunteers who have given their time, energy and money for the advancement of Scouting, he said.

Tickets are on sale for $3 from the district ticket committee made up of Carter, Ted Randall, Jimmie Greene and Bill Henry. Anyone who has not been contacted and wishes to attend may secure tickets by calling any of these members in Rockdale.

China Press Denounces Confucius

By Tim Pearce

PEKING

Reuter -- A massive attack recently launched against Confucius, China's greatest sage, is the public reflection of a crucial debate going on within the Chinese leadership about the ideological development of the Peoples Republic.

History is being turned upside down in a series of scathing articles in the official press denouncing Confucius -- the famous sixth century B.C. philosopher -- as an ambitious villain and praising the ruthless first emperor of the Chin Dynasty who first united China in the third century BC as a progressive and dynamic leader.

The latest edition of the theoretical party periodical Red Flag contains three major articles on aspects of the clash between Confucian teachings, which dominated Chinese society and government for more than 2,000 years, and the methods of Chin Shih Huang, the first Chin emperor, who suppressed Confucianism and set up a totalitarian system of government.

One recent article claims that "The brilliant works of our great leader Chairman Mao have thoroughly exposed and repudiated the theory of Confucianism." Another says Confucius tried to "arrest the forward movement of the wheel of history" by adopting "the reactionary stand of the slave-owning aristocrats already on the decline."

At the same time Chin Shih Huang, who burned most of the Confucian classics and buried alive hundreds of Confucian scholars who opposed his radical program of reform and centralization, is said to have "adhered to a centralized state system and displayed a progressive role in history."

This conflict of more than 2,000 years ago is now seen here as a class struggle relevant even today. Confucius, the reactionary villain, of the tale, has been closely linked with Liu Shao-Chi, China's disgraced former head of state, and Lin Biao, Mao's one-time successor who died in a plane crash while fleeing after an abortive attempt to assassinate Mao.

With Liu and Lin-- currently the leading "revisionist" villains in China -- branded as supporters of Confucius, and with Lin's fellow-plotters reportedly having accused Mao of betraying the trust of the Chinese people and becoming a contemporary Chin Shih Huan, the present day relevance of this campaign by allusion is becoming clear.

But observers here feel a campaign of this breadth and intensity must be more than a general drive to wipe out counter-revolutionary thoughts or strengthen the correct party line, and Chinese officials have confirmed this view.

One official said the attacks on Confucius were a way of preparing the Chinese people for the idea that a serious debate was taking place in "the superstructure" -- by which is meant all levels of officials dealing with the country's administration, education and cultural affairs.

In his speech to the 10th national party congress last August Premier Chou En-Lai issued a warning that "for a long time to come, there will still be two-line struggles within the party. . . therefore all comrades in our party must be fully prepared mentally for the struggles in the long years to come. . ."

However, the Chinese leadership is extremely sensitive about suggestions of differences of opinion within the superstructure, and Chinese sources have said that it is too early to say how the debate will develop, or which individuals or groups could come under attack as "Confucianists."

As one official put it, quoting an old Chinese proverb trying to link individual members of the leadership with aspects of the current debate would be like "trying to catch the wind and shadows."

However, the tone of the articles seems to indicate that the ideologues within the party leadership may be pressing for a purer ideological line especially on educational and cultural matters, while the administrators and military leaders would tend to favour a more pragmatic approach.

One criticism of Confucius quotes from his writings that he "called to office those who had retired into obscurity," which some observers feel may be a warning to a number of experienced administrators who were disgraced during the stormy cultural revolution as supporters of Liu Shao-Chi but who have returned to public life in recent months.

How Much We Mature...

John Connally agrees. This country's institutions are not working as they might. He includes the press.

He suggests the "genius" of the American people will make them work, looking back on almost 200 years of this republic (nee democracy) and looking toward the 200th anniversary.

He knows. Connally holds unique status as a three-term Texas governor, cabinet officer in the abbreviated Kennedy Administration and disaster-struck Nixon Administration, confidante to a former president, the bridge between the Kennedy assassination and Watergate, the introduction of Vietnam "advisors" and the withdrawal of the last American POWs.

His words were brief, but eloquent before editors, publishers, newscasters, reporters, producers at the 15th annual Dallas Press Club awards banquet. He himself had just returned from a "milk run" closed hearing on 1972 campaign contributions in Washington. He laughs at this description.

It is simple enough. We are the institutions. We cling to 19th Century views. So do China and Russia, whose detente Nixon and Kissinger brought.

ought about. We rush toward the 21st Century.

It is up to us to determine our institutions. We keep what works. We reject the rest or the superfluous. It may mean going back here, racing ahead there.

We are bigger than a president or vice-president's mistakes. We are larger than a lack-luster Congress. We are capable of self-examination when our spokesmen are not.

Our short memory forgets the idiots who use CIA tactics in election processes and the zealots who drive public men to such election paranoia. Our ability is capable of removing all, some or none of this from the body politic and making it work. Our patience outlives the rascals and operatives whose conscience is for sale.

We are as bright as the amalgam of people we are. The truth is what we are.

The genius of the American people is a flexible system of principles which holds elections, not wars. This is no myth.

How otherwise can this system survive these two centuries, beyond any other, beyond even a civil war?

How right John Connally is. How much we mature.

explode, leaving neither ego nor belief. Hardly a memory it is more a tribute to our determination to be more finite than we are.

Is it so odd that we are able to choose?

We May Choose...

When we bond our egos to our beliefs, it is like compressing an endless mass of fissionable material into the molten, fiery bowels of the earth.

CATASTROPHIC HEALTH BILL GAINS SUPPORT

Senator Abraham Ribicoff (Conn.) "... It has been only a few weeks since the distinguished chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Senator Russell Long and I introduced the Catastrophic Health Insurance and Medical Assistance Reform Act of 1973. ...

"Private citizens, ministers, doctors, pharmacists' insurance agents, lawyers, hospital administrators, teachers, school superintendents, corporate executives and many others have expressed their support for our health bill.

"But I have been most deeply touched by these people who have shared with me personal stories about the financial tragedies which can befall any family when a prolonged illness or injury strikes.

"Others have had to sell their homes. Some have had to sacrifice educational opportunities to pay for the medical bills which can pile up all too quickly.

"We cannot solve all problems in a single day and we cannot completely eliminate illness. But we can and we must take some steps now to help alleviate the financial burdens of major illness. ...

"I am pleased that 23 Senators are now cosponsors of our legislation. ... The (names were) ordered to be printed in the Record."

Guerrilla Groups Unite

By Ernesto Mendoza

MEXICO CITY
Reuter -- A recent crackdown on urban guerrillas in Mexico has uncovered a growing threat to the government of President Luis Echeverria.

The guerrillas, who up to now have been scattered in small disparate groups, seem to be uniting so they can be more effective in the face of constant pressure by police and army dragnets.

The latest crackdown, following a wave of kidnapping in Mexico, came when federal security bureau agents fanned out through the country and grabbed 27 accused leftwing guerrillas, all of them said to be pledged to establish a socialist regime in Mexico.

Police said some of the guerrillas were trained in North Korea, like many members of the so-called Armed Revolutionary movement (M.A.R.) whose discovery in 1971 led to the expulsion of five Soviet diplomats.

In the last three years, 14 guerrilla groups have emerged in Mexico with a total membership estimated by police sources at between 200 and 300. They engage mainly in kidnappings, armed robberies and terrorist bombing.

Since the guerrilla groups forged links with one another, they have been operating with increasing boldness.

In May, they kidnapped the United States Consul-General in Guadalajara, Terrance Leonhard, and released him after the Mexican government flew 30 prisoners to Cuba in exchange for his life.

In September, the "Leninist Spartacus League" shot and killed industrial magnate Don Eugenio Garza Sada -- one of Latin America's richest men -- when his chauffeur and bodyguard tried to foil an attempt to kidnap him.

In October, the "September 23 Communist League" seized the honorary British consul in Guadalajara and a millionaire industrialist.

The Mexican government, finally taking a hard line against the mounting terrorism, rejected a demand by the kidnappers to fly 51 political prisoners to North Korea.

The consul, Anthony Duncan Williams, was freed after convincing the kidnappers he had no diplomatic status and no money. But the industrialist Fernando Aranguren, was killed.

State Sets Property Auction

AUSTIN

Homer A. Foerster, executive director, Texas State Board of Control, has announced that the 16th State of Texas Surplus Property Auction will be held at the Austin City Coliseum on December 1. Included in the auction are six lots of draperies from the Governor's Mansion and a considerable amount of heavy duty highway equipment.

Nelson International of Dallas has been selected as the auctioneer and will feature as a portion of the sale color slides of road building equipment.

Lists of all surplus property are available from the Texas State Board of Control, P. O. Box 13047, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. The auction area will be open for inspection shortly after 7 a.m., and the bidding will begin at 9 a.m.

Foerster reported 15 prior auctions have netted the State more than $1,845,207.00. Auctions are an activity of the Purchasing Division of the Texas State Board of Control.

Terms of the auction are cash on the day of the sale. Foerster reminded prospective bidders that merchandise must be removed the day of the sale because space and special protection in the Austin City Coliseum are not available on the following day.

LS Gas Rejects Rate

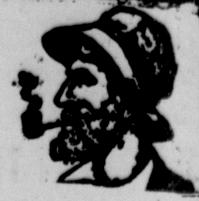

DALLAS

Lone Star Gas Company today rejected the new interim rates allowed by a recent Texas Railroad Commission order for natural gas delivered to customers of Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. The Railroad Commission recently granted Lo-Vaca an interim increase in its already-contracted rates to include the cost of gas, to be adjusted on a monthly basis, plus five cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

In a letter written today to the Railroad Commission, Lone Star confirmed that it will refuse to pay the additional rates to Lo-Vaca because of contracts the two companies entered into in 1968, which were entered into "in good faith."

The Railroad Commission's order stipulates that any Lo-Vaca customers who reject the new higher rates will not have access to any additional deliverability Lo-Vaca may develop in the future.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I don't like to get serious, it's not my style, but it makes no difference how hard I've tried I can't find anything funny about the way people have been wringing their hands over illegal campaign contributions.

Everybody says something has got to be done about it, that it's dangerously unwholesome for so much money to be raised to elect a President, something over 60 million dollars by the Republicans and over 40 by the Democrats, not counting what was raised for lesser offices like the House and Senate, Governorships, etc.

As I understand it, a lot of big corporations are now confessing they knowingly violated the law by handing over big chunks of cash in $100,000-lots to the Presidential campaign. That they knew ahead of time it was against the law is demonstrated by the fact they delivered the money in cash and tried various ways to cover it up on their books, as they are now confessing.

People are asking, how can we put a stop to this?

I can tell you one answer. Find a judge who will fit the punishment to the crime. Instead of fining a multi-million-dollar corporation $5,000 for illegally contributing $100,000, which is about like requiring me to put a nickel in a parking meter, why can't we find some judge who will follow the second provision of the law and sentence the corporation's president and directors to a year in jail? The law is already on the books.

You make it known that any corporation head who uses company money to contribute to a political campaign is going to jail for 12 months, along with his directors, and you'll whip the problem in no time.

Find a judge in the Sirica mold who'll say, look, you guys are not dumb, you can read, you know the law says it's illegal for a corporation to contribute to a campaign, just as it is to break and enter or steal chickens, and from here on out you're going to spend a year in jail if you do it.

I don't know where the money for a campaign would then come from, but I know where it would not come from.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Deathbed Drama

It was a scene fit for the movies. Old Mr. Watkins lay dying. His will was rushed to his hospital room, ready for signing. But as he was in the act of inscribing his name, his strength failed him.

"Help me finish," he whispered.

A friend stepped to the bedside, held the dying man's hand, and helped him complete the signature.

Was the will valid? A court ruled that it was indeed, even though Watkins had not been able to finish the name himself. The court said there could be no doubt, under the circumstances, that the signature was his own voluntary affirmation of the will.

Sooner or later, death overtakes us all. Yet, people persist in waiting until their final moments to make a will.

Obviously, this heightens the chance of a slip-up. Consider another deathbed case:

An elderly widow also felt her strength ebbing while she was part way through her signature. But instead of asking for assistance, she merely lay back and said:

"I just can't sign it now."

She never did finish. In due course, her heirs tried to establish the validity of the will on the basis of the partial signature. But this time, their efforts were in vain. The court said the widow's own words indicated that she did not consider the document complete.

In a third case, a man had already lapsed into unconsciousness by the time the will was brought to his bedside. Here too, a friend held his hand and guided his signature.

Afterward, everyone agreed that the will had been drawn up in accordance with his instructions. Nevertheless, a court found the man's will null and void. The signature didn't become his, said the court, merely because his hand was in physical contact with the pen while his name was being written.

"There was no magic in his touch," said the court. "Both its power and the intelligence necessary to direct it were in a state of suspension."

Frosty Pumpkin Pie Is Bound to Receive Warm Table Welcome

When the frost is on the pumpkin, it's time to put a frosty pumpkin pie on the table for a special dessert treat. To provide this chilly heart-warmer, canned or cooked pumpkin is combined with vanilla ice cream, molasses, sugar and spice, topped with pecans and frozen in a flaky pastry crust.

Choose lard for a tender and delectable pie crust, advises Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock & Meat Board. It produced prize-winning pies in grandmother's time, and it still can be counted on for a superior crust today.

Frosty Pumpkin Pie

1 cup canned or cooked and

sieved pumpkin
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1/3 cup chopped pecans
1 baked 9-inch pie shell*

Combine pumpkin, sugar, molasses, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Soften ice cream and fold into pumpkin mixture, stirring to blend. Place in baked 9-inch pie shell. Sprinkle with chopped pecans and freeze until firm.

*Baked Pie Shell

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lard
2 to 3 tablespoons cold water

Combine flour and salt. Cut in lard until crumbs are size of small peas. Add water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Roll to about 1/8 inch thickness. Line a 9-inch pie pan. Crimp edges and prick with a fork. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) for 12 to 15 minutes.

Pork sausage is another flavor contributor that builds a meal's food value while supplying appetite appeal.

Sausage 'N Sweets Surprise
1 pound fresh pork sausage
2 cans (17 ounces each) sweet potatoes, drained and mashed, or 2 cups mashed, cooked sweet potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 egg, beaten

1/2 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup corn flakes crumbs

Separate sausage in small pieces and lightly brown in frying-pan. Remove sausage and reserve 2 teaspoons drippings. Combine mashed sweet potatoes, flour and sugar. Stir in beaten egg, orange juice, grated orange rind, salt and browned sausage and turn into 9-inch pie plate brushed with 1 teaspoon reserved drippings. Combine corn flakes crumbs with 1 teaspoon reserved drippings and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES Poultry Meeting Slated Tuesday

By Bill McCutchen

A production meeting for Milam County poultry producers will be held Tuesday, November 27th at 7:00 p.m. in the First National Bank meeting room in Cameron.

Dr. Fred Thornberry and Marshall Miller, Poultry specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be in charge of the meeting.

Miller will discuss the present costs of production and what a producer can do to help offset these costs and Thornberry will talk on marketing and management problems, growing pullets and egg production.

This meeting is open to all and is not limited to commercial producers. Producers with farm flocks will find some of this information helpful also.

Farm Fuel Shortage

Fuel has to be made available to farmers when needed and in the amounts needed or next year at harvest time there will be a world crisis that will dwarf anything that has happened to date.

The American farmer has been challenged to produce like never before in 1974 to meet increased national and foreign demand and he is gearing up to do just that. Many have added new cropland and purchased new tractors only to find out that they may be allowed less fuel than last year. Some have sold LP gas tractors because of fuel shortages only to find out that distributors can't sell them diesel fuel because they didn't buy it last year.

Food and clothing is a much more basic need of all people in the world than is gasoline. Consumers should understand that it is in their best interest that farm and ranch tractors and machinery are furnished all the fuel necessary to make and harvest their crops and produce abundant livestock.

The American farmer is the best in the world at the task of food and fiber production. Agricultural exports have been instrumental in stemming the gold flow and putting the U. S. in the black for the first time in years in the balance of payments.

I hope all our political leaders are as aware of this as Representative Kubiak, Senator Patman and U. S. Representative Bob Poage who are well aware of the problem and have been excellent spokesmen.

Fruiting Plants Show Fall Color

With the advent of cold weather, many native trees and shrubs shed their leaves and bare their attractive fruit. In the home landscape, these plants can provide color throughout the winter, points out Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Such fall fruiting plants as yaupon, parsley hawthorn and deciduous (non-evergreen) holly make a colorful home landscape and also provide winter food for birds and other wildlife," notes Welch.

Deciduous yaupon, sometimes called possum-haw holly, is very showy with its bright red to orange fruit on bare gray stems. Like many members of the holly family, it tolerates a wide variety of soil, drainage and moisture conditions.

While it grows abundantly over much of Texas, the deciduous yaupon is rarely available in nurseries. "It can easily be collected in the wild, but be sure to dig a plant with at least a few berries since only the female plants will bear," advises the Texas A&M University System specialist. "To insure a crop of the berry-like fruit, male pollen must be close by."

Yaupon is one of our most popular native evergreens, notes Welch. It, too, is found over much of the state and is easily grown. The shiny red berry-like fruit is a traditional favorite for Christmas decorations in Texas, as is the American holly that grows in the eastern third of the state. Yaupon and American holly can usually be found in nurseries in several sizes.

Imported hollies such as Burfordi and Chinese species and pyracantha are also all planted for their fall show of color. Like many plants not native to our state, they have some insect and disease problems but most people consider them worth the trouble, according to the horticulturist.

"Some of the showiest of all fall-fruiting plants in the landscape are persimmons, with their bright orange fruit hanging on bare limbs. Both native and Japanese varieties thrive in much of Texas. Many varieties boast fruit that is sweet and palatable when fully ripe," adds Welch.

Texas Farmers Produce Modern Day Miracle

It's a modern day miracle, the production of food and fiber for the mushrooming population of this state and nation. Yet it's happening because dedicated people are working hard and caring for the land and striving to do their best to provide high quality food and fiber products for their fellow countrymen.

"Texans are invited to take a close look at the agricultural industry of their state during the month of November, which has been designated as 'Food and Fiber Appreciation Month.' It's a fitting tribute to an industry that serves as the lifeblood of humanity," points out Charles Baker, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Texans should be proud of their agricultural industry which contributes more than $10 billion to the state's economy each year and employs about 30 percent of the state's labor force. Of the state's 168 million acres of land area, 142 million are devoted to agriculture."

What are some of the other facts and figures that make Texas an agricultural giant? Baker lists a few:

- Texas ranks third nationally to only California and Iowa in total agricultural income.
- Texas leads the nation in producing cotton, grain sorghum and rice.
- It is the top cattle producer and also leads in the production of sheep and wool, goats and mohair.
- Texas ranks third among agricultural exporting states and is the leading exporting state in rice, cotton, hides, tallow and cottonseed oil.
- About 21 percent of the state's 1972 cash receipts from agriculture came from exports.
- Texas is second only to Georgia in peanut production and is a major producer of other oilseed crops such as cottonseed, soybeans, flaxseed and castors.
- Texas is the third leading producing state behind California and Florida. It ranks in cabbage, watermelon and spinach production and second in onions, carrots and cantaloupes.
- The state is second in producing grapefruit and third in oranges.
- Texas leads in native pecans and is third in overall pecan production.

- Honey production is also big business, with Texas being third in the number of bee colonies.
- Texas is among the top 10 dairy states in the nation.
- The state is a leading producer of poultry and eggs.

Other enterprises that are important generators of agricultural income in Texas are timber, horses, fish farming and recreation. Texas is the leading state in horse numbers and is among the leading states in fish farming.

"Agriculture is indeed 'big' in Texas," notes Baker, "and it continues to grow to meet the ever-increasing demands for high quality food and fiber products."

ANCA Responds To 'Bum Steer'

HOUSTON

Price freezes and roll-backs, consumer boycotts, pressure on taxes, a ban on DES usage, $100 a head for cows -- all these things indicate that in 1973 the American cattleman has been getting a bum steer, according to George Spencer, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association (ANCA).

Speaking at the annual convention of the Texas Cattle Feeder's Association, Spencer said, "The ANCA is responding to this bum steer with a greatly expanded public information program. The events of this last year have clearly highlighted the need for ANCA's newly created Communications Department which will keep the public informed of the constantly changing factors affecting the beef industry," he pointed out.

Spencer announced the appointment of Roger S. Berglund as Director of this new Department. "Mr. Berglund is eminently qualified to direct and guide ANCA activities in this all important area of public information. He has spent a quarter century in agricultural communications as reporter, editor and publisher of Feedstuffs Magazine; and as advertising and sales promotion manager of Arizona Feeds in Tucson, Arizona."

In addition to the establishment of the new ANCA Communications Department, Spencer outlined how ANCA was responding with its expanded public information program. "We have launched an aggressive and comprehensive public information campaign to tell lawmakers and consumers about our industry," he noted. "Carefully designed objectives have been developed by the ANCA leadership -- and at the top of the list is the smooth implementation of a government information program to assist our already effective ANCA Washington Affairs Office."

The ANCA officer explained that in addition to the expanded consumer information activities conducted by ANCA's five News Bureaus, a continuing cross-flow of information and opinion will be maintained to encourage all levels of government to give enlightened and favorable consideration to the worthy interests of the cattle industry. "We will hit hard on the theme that government policies should not stifle the cattle industry's development and should encourage the capacity of the free enterprise system," he said.

"Ours is an ambitious program, and one that is already in motion. It is a program that is producing tangible results. We're pleased that the Texas Cattle Feeders Association is a strong supporter of the effort," Spencer concluded.

Arabian Horse Club Sets Show

Local area members of the Arabian Horse Club of Texas announce the Fall All-Arabian Horse Show to be held at the Heart-O-Texas Fairgrounds in Waco the weekend following Thanksgiving Day -- that's November 23 through the 25th.

The show is a benefit for equine research with proceeds to go to the Morris Animal Foundation. Admission is $2 - but only $1 with the free coupon available at your local grocery or saddle shop - and 50¢ for children.

The event will showcase the Pure-bred and Half-Arabian horse at halter and under English and Western tack, harness & buggy, native costume, stock and saddle seat, side saddle and trail classes.

Junior exhibitors will also be featured.

The professionally trained horses will be shown in amateur competition, meaning no rider or exhibitor earns professional fees for training or showing horses. Performances on Friday and Saturday begin at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m., and on Sunday at 9 a.m., with championship classes at 1 p.m.

It's happening to us, too.

Everywhere you turn these days, the costs of just about everything are rising.

It's happening to Texas Power & Light Company, too.

In 1963, pin-type insulators for electric distribution lines cost just 30¢ each. Today, the same insulator costs 77¢.

The prices of hardware, materials and equipment of all kinds needed to produce and supply electric power have gone up drastically in the past ten years...and they're continuing to rise.

The costs of constructing generating plants...the interest rates of money borrowed to finance them...and the fuels required to operate them are much greater than just a few years ago.

You want adequate and reliable electric service and TP&L considers it has a responsibility to provide that service. However, to do this, rising costs must be passed on in the form of increased rates to users.

Ceremony Unites Strong-Coker

Miss Debra Coker and Mr. Bud Strong were married Friday evening in a candlelight ceremony at First United Methodist Church, Cameron.

Rev. Alys Coleman conducted the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with white gladiolas with a candelabra trimmed with greenery in the center. The bride is the daughter of Grady Coker of Cameron and Mrs. Joe Scarcella of Temple. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Strong of Iredell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown designed and made by her mother. It was of white lace over satin, with bridal pearls accenting the round yoke and fitted waist. A three-tiered veil of illusion over lace swept into a chapel length train. The veil was fitted to a chaplet of white rosebuds and forget-me-nots. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Kathy Payson was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Connie Brashear, Cindy Kunz, and Janice Meissner. They wore pale yellow satin gowns with flounced nylon sleeves and a white satin bow accenting the empire waist. They carried bouquets of white daisy mums.

Jennifer Payson was flower girl and wore a gown similar to the brides attendants. Randy Coker was ringbearer.

Keith Nelson was best man and groomsmen were Jerry Hill, Tim Pennell and Jim Tuttle. Ushers were Ben White and Jerry Shaffer. Candlelighters were Danny Coker and David Raymond. After the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall, where Georgeann Wilkerson registered guests.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over gold, and held a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with white bells and pale yellow roses. The bride party's bouquets centered the table.

The groom's table was covered with an ivory cloth and held a chocolate cake and punch service.

Cooking With Cranberries

They're a beautiful, bright red holiday tradition that come in four shapes: cherry, olive, bugle and bell. Their delicious tart flavor is great for sauces, baked goods and beverages—but they can also be used for medicine, or to dye fabrics. What are they? Vaccinium macrocarpus, called "bounceberries" by our pilgrim forbearers because they have a healthy bounce when they are ripe and ready to enjoy.

These colorful little berries, today enjoyed as cranberries, were first discovered flourishing in the sandy bogs of Cape Cod by the early settlers. Indians taught the new arrivals that cranberries, a native of North America, had great value as food and as a dye. But most important, the settlers found cranberries a natural protection against Vitamin C deficiency and used them to survive the harsh New England winters.

Because they are most plentiful between September and January, cranberries have become synonymous with Thanksgiving and Christmas. Strands of the colorful fruit still garland many a festive tree. And cranberry sauce and jelly are virtually inseparable from the holiday turkey.

Although cranberries remain a seasonal favorite, modern marketing encourages year-round enjoyment of the cranberry in an endless variety of recipes. This quick and convenient muffin recipe—made easier than ever before with Kraft's Squeeze Parkay Liquid Margarine—is an exciting new variation on your personal kitchen theme, at Christmastime or anytime of the year.

CRANBERRY MUFFINS

3/4 cup milk	1/3 cups sugar
1/2 cup Squeeze Parkay Liquid Margarine	2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg	1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups flour	1 10-oz. pkg. frozen cranberry-ange relish, thawed, drained

Heat oven to 425°. Combine milk, margarine and egg. Add combined dry ingredients: mix only until moistened. Stir in relish. Pour into greased medium-size muffin pan, filling each cup 2/3 full. Bake at 425°, 20 to 25 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from pan immediately.

Of all the rich, smooth, desserts in the world, none surpasses cheesecake. It's fresh cranberry time, and this cheesecake combines the tart and tempting flavor of cranberries with the creamy texture of an easy, no-bake cheesecake.

Cranberry Cheesecake

Crust: Mix together 3/4 cup fine vanilla wafer crumbs and 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Press onto bottom of 9-inch spring form pan. Set aside.

Cheesecake Filling:

5 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, at room temperature	1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 3/4 cups sugar	1 teaspoon grated fresh lime rind
3 tablespoons flour	1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt	5 eggs
1 teaspoon grated fresh lemon rind	2 egg yolks
	1/4 cup heavy cream

Combine cheese, sugar, flour, salt, lemon rind and juice, lime rind and vanilla in large bowl of electric mixer. Beat at low speed until smooth. Beat in eggs and egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in heavy cream. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in 400° F. oven 8 minutes. Reduce heat to 225° F. and bake 1 hour and 20 minutes longer. Cool slowly (not in a very cold place), then refrigerate.

Cranberry Topping:

1 cup sugar	2 whole cloves
1 cup water	2 cups fresh cranberries
4 strips lemon rind

In medium saucepan mix sugar, water, lemon rind and cloves; place over low heat and stir until sugar dissolves. Add cranberries; cook over medium heat until cranberries begin to pop. Remove from heat; chill. Just before serving, spread over cooled cheesecake. Makes: 12 to 18 servings.

Yoemen See Basketball Action Against Brenham

The Cameron Yoemen opened the '72-'73 basketball season Friday night against Brenham. All three teams saw action, but only the Yoemen traveled home with a 55-40 varsity victory. The Yoe JV was defeated, 53-50, and the Yoe Freshmen suffered a 39-17 slashing. However, all three games proved to be exciting.

Contributing to the varsity victory was an outstanding defensive stand which held Brenham to only 4 points during the third quarter. Also aiding in the Yoe victory was the domination of the backboards.

Ronnie Bennett led the way in rebounding, and Brenham hardly ever got a second chance to put the ball through the loop.

John Barron was the leading scorer for the Yoemen with 14 points, followed by Ronnie Bennett with 11. Also scoring for Cameron was David Thomas with 10 points, Michael White with 8, Kenneth Scott with 4, and Gary Hornung, Jafus White, Troy Daniels, and David Hollas, all with 2 points each.

Coach Max Graham was pleased with certain aspects of the game, as he stated, "We had good balanced scoring, and we hit 87, 90 or 7 out of 8 of the free throws."

In junior varsity action, the Yoemen battled down to a last minute 53-50 loss. James Walker was the high point man for the Yoemen with 19 points, followed by Obra Henry with 18. Dennis Hollas tossed in 5, Gene Goeke added 2, and Ricky Kelley and David Kornegay each scored 3 points to finish the Yoe scoring.

The Freshmen were led by the scoring of Gregg Kelley who compiled a total of 7 points, and by Gerry Heltman, Larry Simer, Brian Wilkinson, Sam Green, and George Hurtik, each with 2 points. However, the freshmen effort fell short of Brenham's 30 points.

Badgers Win Toss For District

The Buckholts Badgers won the toss with Jarrell and Salado last week and with it the right to represent district 8 - B six man football conference in a bi-district game.

The Badgers will play Trinidad, the district 7-B winners Friday, Nov. 23, 1973, in Robinson. Kick-off time is 7:30 p.m.

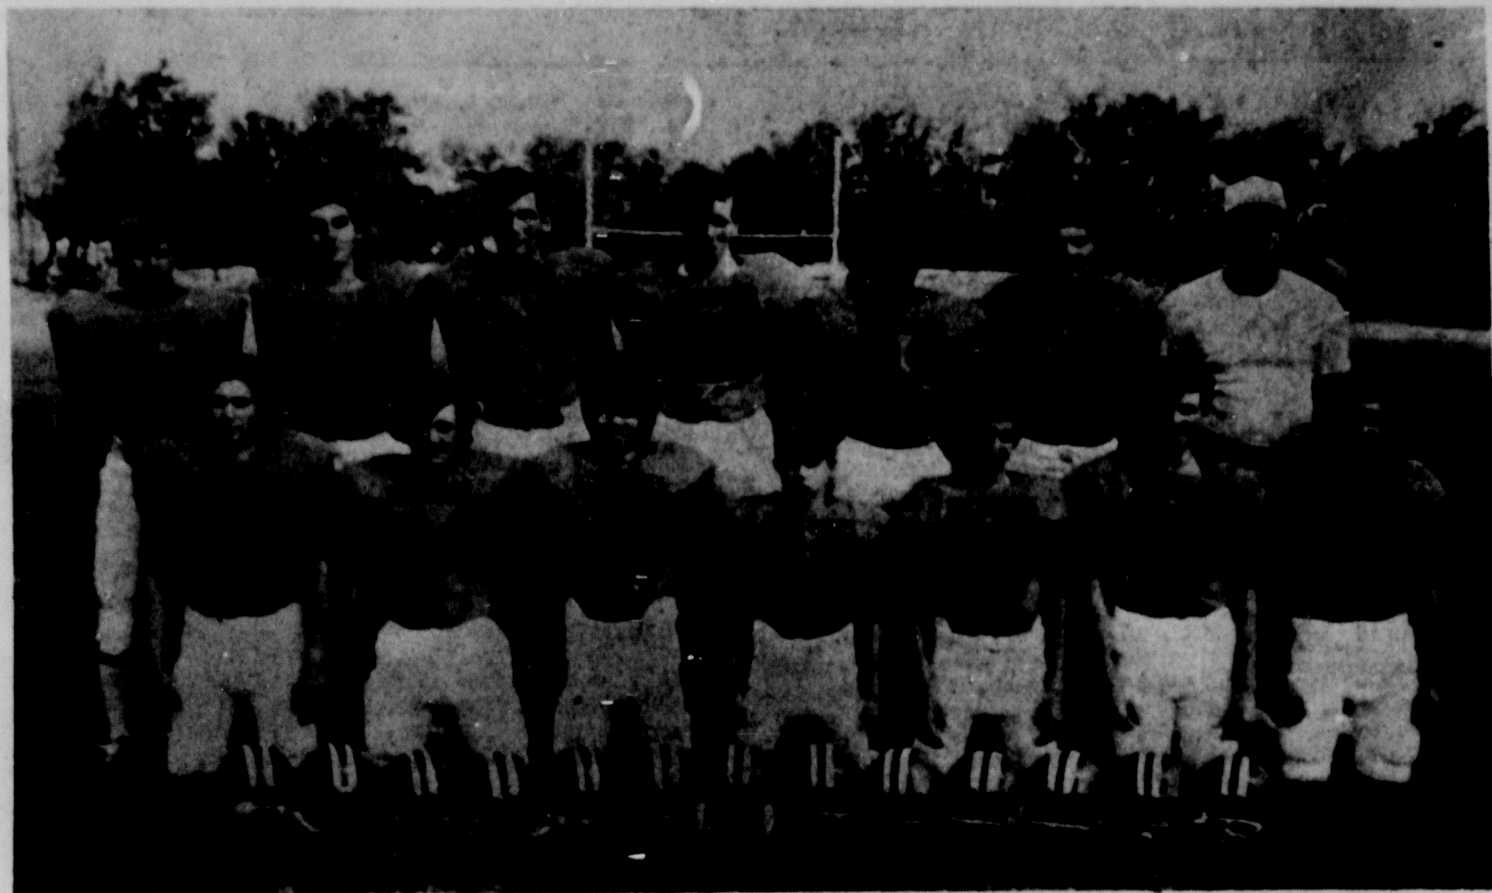

Buckholts has a 4-1 district record and the Trojans finished with a 5-0 record.

Trapping Still Good Business

AUSTIN Much of the country was first settled and explored by trappers who came to the wilderness looking for furs.

The country is settled now, and there are trappers still operating, some of them earning a good living doing exactly what their forebears did -- selling animal pelts.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department issued 4,855 resident trapper licenses last year, twice the number issued in 1971. Last year's trappers sold at least $483,698 worth of furs to fur dealers across the state from Dec., 1972 to

Native Menu Planned For Kubiak Reception

Turkey and klobasniks -- with an assortment of refreshments -- will spice up a Nov. 29 reception in Rockdale saluting Rep. Dan Kubiak.

The native menu was announced this week with formation of a women's committee handling physical arrangements for the 7 to 10 p.m. reception at the Rockdale V. F. W. Hall.

Meanwhile, the co-chairman of the planning group, Marlin businessman Joe Holloway, said that ticket sales for the reception are going well and indicated a good turnout in honor of the area legislator.

The tickets are $10 a couple and are available at many banks throughout Falls, Milam and Williamson counties and from some members of the reception steering committee.

Among those serving on the women's committee from Milam County are Mrs. James Brock, Mrs. Charles Maddox, and Mrs. Eugene Smitherman, all of Cameron; Mrs. Ed Lehmann of Buckholts; Mrs. Howard Leshikar of Thorndale; and Mrs. Bill Gause of Gause.

Christmas Seals

Show 12 Days

Children don't come cheaper by the dozen anymore. Not with today's costs. Neither do Christmas Seals. But this year they do come in twelves.

The Seals show the twelve days of Christmas, from the partridge in a pear tree to the twelve drummers drumming. The fun of the song has always been trying to remember the long list of "gifts" that "my true love sent to me." At mid-winter festivals in jolly old England, the lyrics were not only a test of memory but also a measure of spirits unbridled.

Nobody knows how the old rollicking folksong is or who wrote it. But it is a carol of great charm and antiquity, a song of wandering minstrels and Christmas fairs. During one period, the song was relegated to the nursery as a forfeit game. Each child had to give up something when the lyrics were forgotten. At another time, the song was accompanied by dancing and asking alms for those in need.

The song honors the twelve days from December 25 to Epiphany, January 6, the day the three Wise Kings arrived from the East to visit the Christ Child. Christmas Seals continue the tradition of giving. Contributions support today's fight against lung disease.

ECHOES OF HISTORY

From all over the world people come to visit her at Plymouth Harbor. They speak in many tongues, but their tone of amazement is always the same. How did the Pilgrims do it? How did over 100 men, women and children exist in those cramped quarters and that 67-day voyage across the vast and treacherous Atlantic?

A replica of Mayflower I, this small craft required a feat of seamanship even in these modern times, when she was sailed across the seas to Plymouth. But she is also sturdy and her decks echo with history.

How did the Pilgrims do it? They had an overwhelming goal, great courage and most important of all, tremendous faith. They lived to offer thanksgiving—but as human and frail and frightened as any of us.

A strong faith can be found in your church today. Consider it, won't you?

You're never too old to yearn.

When you retire, you'll still want to take vacations. When you retire, you'll still want to buy new clothes, have an occasional night out, drive a newer car, buy gifts, and be independent. Will you be able to? If you have your health there's only one thing that's going to keep you from living the way you want to. Lack of money. That's where U.S. Savings Bonds come in. You can join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work right now. That way an amount you specify will be set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds. It's an almost painless way to save, and before you know it, you'll have a sizeable nest egg built up for your retirement years. U.S. Savings Bonds. Because you want to retire from work, not from living.

Take stock in America.
Buy U.S. Savings Bonds

Now U.S. Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4 1/2% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

PLANNED OVERS!

A good cook is a person who respects food, and who is plagued with what to do with the leftovers. To throw them away offends the economic sense of the thrifty, and thwarts the creative feeling of the artistic cook.

Leftovers can be turned into "planned overs" with a little thought. Logically, this is planning several meals at one time utilizing one large cut of meat for two or three main dishes by changing the accompaniment. This type of planning avoids re-heating and re-serving the same old thing, which is really what gives leftovers such a bad name!

One of my favorite "planned overs" for after Thanksgiving is Turkey Tetrazzini.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI
 1/2 cup turkey or chicken broth
 1 can cream of mushroom soup
 1 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
 2 cups diced cooked turkey
 2 tbsp. chopped pimiento
 1 cup grated Cheddar Cheese
 salt and pepper to taste
 1 4-oz. can chopped mushrooms, drained
 8 oz. spaghetti, cooked according to package directions
 2 tbsp. slivered almonds
 1/4 cup Romano Cheese
 1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
 Heat the oven to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Blend broth, soup, Worcestershire Sauce; stir in remaining ingredients except the Romano Cheese. Pour into 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Sprinkle with Romano Cheese. Bake 30 minutes. Serves four.
